Gen. Butler again rose above party on Monday and voted with the democrats.

The probability is that Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell will be the successor of General Butler in congress.

The New York Tribune thinks the Pennsylvania national greenback party is too long a name, and suggests the name "the Pennsylvania tramps."

The Hartford Courant says that the winter has not altogether been lost. The purely personal politicians have demonstrated how little use they are to the country.

The national party in New York is split. There are already two organizations in the field. It seemed all the leaders wanted offices and, as there were more leaders than offices, there was a falling out.

The Democratic party now have eight out of the twenty Ohio representatives, including Blandine Blandine. They propose to re-district the state so that they will have a live out of the twenty.

Nasby says: "The confederate when properly handled, is not a bad thing. I shall probably adopt it as a pet name. He is now staying at a sumptuous hotel, in Washington, and is called judge."

At a mass meeting of the national party in New York city, Secretary Sherman was charged with robbing the people of their money by making the contract with the syndicate. This is a good point for Joseph Wolfe, esq.

The Charleston News and Courier (Dem.) says: "The south is ready for redemption. No section of the country is as fully prepared for it. Yet Senator Gordon advises that we go back to the days of excitement and speculation, and take a year or two of fictitious prosperity to be followed by general bankruptcy."

The Indianapolis Journal takes the following hopeful view of affairs in Indiana: "It really looks as if an overruling Providence were smoothing and strengthening the way for a republican victory in this state next fall, and if it will only grant the convention wisdom to avail itself of the opportunity the result cannot be doubtful."

On Tuesday last the syndicate anticipated their August and September purchases. The agreement was that $15,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds should be taken up to June 1st, but it has already taken $35,000,000. If congress will stop legislation on financial subjects, our entire debt will be funded in 4 and 4 per cent. bonds before the end of President Hayes' term.

Under the heading "Fugiron in the pulpit" Guil Hamilton belabors Rev. James Freeman Clarke, in the New York Tribune, for venturing to preach on free trade. It is hardly proper, not to say lady-like, for a person of Miss Hamilton's calibre, to charge Mr. Clarke with ignorance, perverting the truth, etc. However, we think Mr. Clarke will continue to preach what he thinks to be truth, and will be thoughtfully listened to by Boston people.

It must be mighty nice to get into a democratic investigating committee. No wonder the democrats in the house want more investigating committees. The first bill purchased by the democratic committee that went to New Orleans a year ago last winter to investigate frauds, was of Hall & Hume, grocers, in New Orleans. Among the items were two baskets of champagne, one dozen bottles of old scotch whiskey, sherry, claret, and other democratic essentials. We suppose the frauds were so great the naturally virtuous democrats were not able to contemplate them without "bracing up."

Some of the scenes in the house are simply disgraceful. Mr. Kelly and Mr. O'Neill, both of Pennsylvania, got into a great row the other day on a very slight pretext. Mr. Kelly had a great speech to deliver on the tariff question, and so wanted the bill considered. Mr. O'Neill said Mr. Kelly was violating the wishes of his constituents by allowing the tariff bill to come before the house. Whereupon Mr. Kelly grandiloquently said he was not a poodle colored and tied with a string, to follow and obey the beck of exegene. Mr. O'Neill then gentlemanly remarked, "You are a puppy anyhow." Mr. Kelly replied "If it were not that we are here on the floor of this house, I could knock you down." It may be wrong, but we should not feel sorry if the two gentlemen went to the historic field of Bladensburg and did some effective fighting.

Hon. Adair Wilson has been suggested by the San Juan Independent as the democratic candidate for congress from the San Juan country. It seems to us that the democracy is rather hard on Patterson. His devotion to the interests of this state, his purity of character and general ability, which the democracy press has thrust so recently, would seem to make him a very available candidate. Besides the democratic party will make "fraud" an issue all over the country this fall, and we are sure that the nomination of Patterson for congress will make this issue very prominent in this state. If fraud is the issue, nominate Patterson by all means.

S. S. Cox's argument for an eight-hour law is that one-fifth more laborers will be employed than under the ten-hour law. Why Mr. Cox stops at eight hours, we do not know. If five hours were a legal day's work, then twice as many laborers could be employed as under the ten-hour system, and according to his logic that would be much better. We do not see why the government should make an exception to the general rule with its laborers. It will only create discontent among other laborers. The government should pay the market price for a day's work, and no more. Mr. Cox seems to vie with Mr. Wright in trying to see which can be the greatest demagogue.

THE ARMY APPROPRIATION.

The army appropriation bill was reported to the house Tuesday. The bill was prepared by Hon. Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, with three things in view: First, that the army should have the same relative proportion to the population now as it did in 1860. This would limit the number in the army to 20,000. Secondly, the cost of maintaining the army should be at the same rate as in 1860. And thirdly, no changes should be made which will do any injustice to those officers who entered the army as a life profession. These were the general principles which guided Mr. Hewitt in the preparation of the bill. We do not see, however, why the army in 1860 should be the standard by which the size of the army at present should be determined. There have been such changes in the west during the last eighteen years that the needs cannot be the same. The rivers had not pushed into this Rocky Mountain district to any great extent; the Indians were not so numerous as they are now; the reason for dissatisfaction did not exist then that exist now. The experience of the last two years has taught us that the army cannot, with its present strength, cope as successfully with the Indians as it should. So much time is consumed in gathering a sufficient force to put down an Indian outbreak that great loss of life and property take place before anything is done. Besides, our soldiers in insufficient numbers are frequently obliged to attack the Indians and lose heavily on this account. The loss by death in action of the officers of the American army is greater than that of any other nation. The mortality is so great that English life insurance companies will not insure an officer in the United States army. With over a hundred military posts on the Atlantic coast to guard, with the troubles on the Rio Grande frontier, and the risk of imminent war with the Indians on a frontier of two thousand miles, an army of twenty thousand men, seems to be a small protection. The size of the army should be regulated by the necessities of the present hour, and not by the necessities of twenty years ago.

Of course the number of officers will be greatly decreased, as the number of regiments will be reduced from forty to twenty-six. Mr. Hewitt has endeavored to make this reduction as easy to the officers as possible. The bill offers to all officers who will resign one year's pay and allowances. If the officer has served ten years, then two years' pay and allowances are offered. Those officers who remain in the supernumerary list and are competent to hold the rank they have, are to be assigned to some civil duties by the president until they are needed in the army. We are glad Mr. Hewitt has shown such justice to the officers. Mr. Blandine's bill proposed to muster out all supernumerary officers at the end of the year—a grossly unjust measure. After all, this is a much better bill than we could have expected from a democratic committee. Somehow the democracy don't like the army. We hope it was not offended for what the army did from 1861 to 1865.

OUT WEST.

The storm two weeks ago extended as far south as Santa Fe.

The new board of town trustees at Longmont refuse to grant liquor license, therefore as fast as those now held expire the saloons are closed.

Sam Sin shot Wang at Garland on the 1st, but the wound was not fatal. The difficulty grew out of the boiling of a shirt the two being engaged in that business.

One man, on the ground of the Ohio company, at the mouth of the Dallas, worked with a rocker twelve hours and obtained $2.63 in heavy gold nuggets. —Curay Sentinel.

The Grand View mine, located near the town limits, in the Uncompahgre canon, has been sold by Messrs. McDonald, Scott, Gibson & Wood, to eastern parties. Consideration $8,000. —Ogden Times.

Tramps have become so numerous and are committing so many robberies in Omaha that the citizens have organized a vigilance committee of 150 of themselves for the thorough patrol of the town.

During the past week there was received at Prof. Hill's reduction works in Black Hawk eleven car loads of ore from Montana. It was hauled between 700 and 800 miles before it reached a railroad. —Black Hawk Post.

W. P. Ogden, formerly a conductor on the C. & N. railroad, had his hip joint broken in 1873 by an accident on the road. Suit was brought for $10,000. A compromise has been entered into whereby Ogden gets $2,000 and is returned to his old position.

The Denver Times says that Professor Hill's new reduction works when completed will be twice the size and capacity of any similar concern in the world. It is expected that they will be ready for business in all departments by October or November.

Mr. William Church to-day settled with Prof. Hill and has turned the stamping works over to him. Mr. Duncan takes charge of the works from to-day on. Mr. Church leaves for California as soon as he can make proper arrangements. —Boulder Banner.

For twelve miles on the Purgatoire river below El Moro, says the Trinidad Chronicle, the wheat crop never looked better than at the present time. Since the late fall of snow and rain it has come forward. There is probably more wheat here than in any previous year.

Bloodworth, the man who culminated the murder at Leadville, and for whom there is a five hundred dollar reward offered, was a lunch fiend the past winter at El Moro. Many of his associates knew that he had committed a murder previous to coming here, but these fellows never tell on one another. —Trinidad Enterprise.

Recognizing the fact that Del Norte is the true gateway to the rich mining country known as the San Juan, and is on the direct line from the railroad, Barlow & Sanderson, as we understand, propose to discontinue what is known as the Sagache line from Canon City, and will soon withdraw their coaches and buckboards, and the mail will be carried on horseback.

Captain Thayer started up last week with a force of about forty Chinamen. He looks confidently for a good season, as the ground he is now working is known to be fully as rich as the best worked last year. His reservoir is an invaluable aid to him at the present time, as by shutting down the gates, water enough accumulates during one night to run him the whole of the next day. —Mt. Lincoln Argus.

The new hook and ladder truck will arrive at Pueblo on the freight train to-day. As it will require some time to take the apparatus from the car, and as it is very desirable that G. O. Richmond, foreman of the Hook and Ladder company, who is now in Denver, should be present at the ceremonies, the reception and presentation of the truck to the fire department will not take place until Wednesday afternoon. The programme of exercises will be published in the Daily Champion of Wednesday morning. —Champion, 17th.

A table of gross earnings of the several roads for April shows the following figures: A. T. & S. F., $290,500 increase, $9,822; D. & R. G., three weeks only, $50,819 increase, $13,483; K. P., three weeks only, $218,100 increase, $31,184. The gross earnings from January 1 to April 30 were: A. T. & S. F., $935,983 increase, $24,958; D. & R. G., $250,314 increase, $61,716; K. P., $895,119 increase, $90,560. All the roads show an increase in earnings over last year, which indicates that more business is being done, and consequently the times have improved.

A couple of boys were roaming around over the foothills northwest of town Sunday, when their attention was attracted by large deposits of black sand. They secured some of it, and upon panning found that it contained a number of colors of gold. It has been known for some time that quartz rock exists in that vicinity containing gold, but the opinion has prevailed that it was not in sufficient quantities to pay for working. Parties having plenty of idle time might spend some of it very profitably by investigating that section. —San Juan Prospector.

MAY 16, 1878.

Official Paper of the City of Colorado Springs.

An emigrant train from Arkansas, consisting of five wagons, arrived in town yesterday.

Mr. H. V. McNeil is erecting a new two story house, on a portion of the Higgins estate, Nevada Avenue, which he has recently purchased.

The case of Joel Mayce against L. C. Dana, for false imprisonment, was argued before Judge Colburn yesterday. The judge reserved his decision until this morning at 11 o'clock.

The property occupied by Mr. D. J. Martin, and owned by H. A. McIntyre, was sold yesterday under trustee's sale by Capt. M. L. DeCoursey, trustee, to Dr. C. R. Bissell for the sum of $4,000.

Several car loads of iron for the Mammoth extension of the D. & R. G. railway are taken down daily, and we understand that the work of track laying is being rapidly pushed forward.

Col. E. H. Castle, of Chicago, is staying at the National. Col. Castle was prominent in organizing the transportation system of the army during the war, and had twenty-seven railroads under his charge at one time.

S. B. Westernfield lost three checks dated May 13, yesterday, payable to his order. Two of these checks are on the First National and one on the El Paso County Bank. The checks were endorsed in blank. All parties are cautioned against accepting these checks.

Mr. E. J. Eaton, county assessor, requests us to inform the people of El Paso county that the law now in force compels every citizen in the county to call at his office in Union block before the 20th inst. Those having property are required to list the same on schedules furnished, and those owning no property, to make a sworn statement to that effect.

Nine rumps board the south-bound express train at Pueblo, yesterday, and on refusing to pay their fare conductor Hynes seized the train and the rumps drew revolvers, one of which was strapped at him within four feet of his head, but happily without effect. Mr. Hynes is not a large man, but he displayed much pluck in grappling the heavy man of the crowd and giving him a good tussle. Finally, with the assistance of the engineer and brakemen, the party were disposed of. Mr. Hynes has the only trophy of the fight, namely, a revolver, which he succeeded in capturing from one of the gang.

Greenwood.

MAY 13, 1878.

To the Editor of the Gazette: Greenwood is situated south-east of Canon City, about twenty miles distant, at the base of the Greenhorn range of mountains.

The place is called by the euphonious name of "Hardscrabble." It is stated that a party of emigrants in an early day named it thus, in view of the rocky and precipitous mountain road from the park to the top of the range. The road now is greatly improved, as it is on the direct route from Pueblo to Rosita. The park that still bears that name, is one of the most beautiful in the state, and from the good indications of thrift among the farmers we judge the name a misnomer.

Standing at the head of the park one can see for miles the well fenced ranches and the green fields of grain that really refresh the eye of a pilgrim, and gladden the heart of the resident. The farmers are unusually busy in breaking up new ground and also preparing the old for the later crops.

There are two stores on the creek which furnish supplies to the inhabitants. I was told that a bed of coal of excellent quality had been found near the mountain, which, if true, will give a new impetus to the place.

Notwithstanding this is a rural district and nearly isolated from the rest of the world, yet I saw the indomitable and everywhere present book agent and Bible man, presenting his goods to the unsuspecting and pure minded people.

Hon. T. W. Hull, of the park, who purchased some property in your city not long since, intends to make Colorado Springs his future home. He is a subscriber to the GAZETTE.

L. A. FERGUSON.

The Excursion.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

DEAR SIR: I am proud to tell you I was among the many who accompanied the excursion given by the M. E. church of your city yesterday. Being a little gloomy in the morning I hesitated, but finally concluded to go, and had I anticipated one-tenth the amount of pleasure and profit that was in store for me, I should have gone at double the price.

To describe the sights in passing over the mountain would be impossible. One must see to appreciate it. Of course the pleasure one derives from such a trip depends very much upon those who have charge. In this case no effort on the part of those having the management was spared to make all enjoy themselves, and so well did they succeed, that I am sure not one came home dissatisfied in any way. I had the pleasure of taking dinner on the summit with the pastor and Dr. Hoyt's families, whom quite a number joined, and a better meal would be hard to find in any of our best hotels. May the Methodists have success in their financial undertaking, and give many such opportunities to the public to aid them, thereby binding the people to them by their social and pleasant way of treating them.

EXCURSIONIST.

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 15, 1878.

Personal.

B. F. Follett and family left the city yesterday for Denver.

Mr. H. M. Newton, of the Denver Times is at the Crawford.

Mr. Sagendorf, the druggist, is rusticated for a few days at Hoyt's ranch.

O. O. Huyck of Denver, western agent of Huyck's Chicago shirt, is in town.

J. A. Crawford, of the National hotel, came down from Denver last night.

H. Halhusen, esq., left yesterday for the U. S. He will return in about three weeks.

Mr. S. C. Hall started yesterday for White, Wis., with the remains of his wife, whose death we noticed in our last issue.

Sergeant Black, of the signal corps, came down from Pike's Peak on Tuesday last. He reports that the trail will be open by June 1st.

Mr. John B. Maude, vice-president of the St. Louis Smelting and Refining Company, is staying at the National.

A large and varied assortment of towels, which decorate one of the windows of D. J. Martin's store, attract much attention.

Mrs. J. S. Wolfe and the Misses Mai, Lulu and Minnie Wolfe, leave town this morning on a visit to friends in Omaha, Nebraska.

We received a pleasant call yesterday from Messrs. W. D. Dawson and E. D. Cowen, recently connected with the New Mexican, published at Santa Fe.

Martin Collins is director of the St. Louis Smelting and Refining Company, and vice-president of the Harrison Smelting Works as we chronically stated yesterday.

Miss Sadie Rawlinson, after a year's residence in Colorado, returns today to her home in western New York. Miss Rawlinson leaves here with the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Mr. Warner A. Root, correspondent and agent of the Denver News, made a pleasant call on us yesterday. He has just made a very successful trip to Leadville and vicinity.

Geo. Tweddle, esq., of Albany, New York, proprietor of Tweddle hall in that city, is registered at the Crawford. He is accompanied by Mr. Thos. Fawell, also of that city. Business and pleasure have led them to Colorado.

Manitou.

Manitou is looking beautifully; the trees and bushes are all out in summer dress. The whole country is remarkably green and fresh looking this spring.

Mrs. Beebe has put the finishing touches to her house, and it is now open; she has put in steam radiators in hall and dining room, which will take all chilliness off the air on the many cool days which are sure to come during the summer. Her house looks very bright after its spring cleaning and with its new carpets.

The Manitou house has also been undergoing repairs, and has been recarpeted. This house has never been in as good hands as this year. There will be no choice between the Manitou and Beebe house this summer; the guests in either case cannot help being satisfied. The Cliff house is well spoken of, although a smaller house.

And now delightful news! thanks to a vigorous town board, pigs are no longer considered desirable property in Manitou, the present owners of this obnoxious live stock being anxious and determined, at whatever price consequently all creatures of this kind will soon take their departure for distant ranches, where they will have room to root and wallow at their own sweet will, fitting themselves as rapidly as possible for conversion into bacon and lard, the successful war against this nuisance on the part of the town board gives us reason to hope that from this time forth Manitou is to be in every way one of the most desirable of summer and winter resorts. Nature has done everything for it. Campers are arriving, a number of tents are already pitched. They are so pretty, and add so to the landscape, and anyone who has ever camped knows the deliciousness of sleeping out doors, and remembers the voracious appetite so obtained. The enthusiasm from one clothes and household cares, the nothing to do, but take one's ease. The best prescription for tired mail or woman, whether tired from gaiety or from work and worry, also for city-imprisoned child, is camp life in this pure mountain air.

To this life life here can be added all desirable luxuries of food, camp outfitting being a regular branch of trade here. Some enterprising individuals have made ample and comfortable arrangements for taking parties up the Peak at greatly reduced rates, going up by one trail and returning by another.

Good saddle horses can always be had, the lively accommodations are most excellent in every particular, handsome, comfortable turnouts, the best of horses and careful drivers, and more than all their drives and walks unequalled. XXX.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT. Of selling goods below cost. The culprit can be seen at Lake's music store.

New Train Change of Time.

The Denver and Rio Grande in connection with the Kansas Pacific railway, will put on a new train leaving Canon City at 4:15 a. m.; Pueblo, 6:30 a. m.; Colorado Springs, 8:40 a. m., arriving at Denver at 12:25 p. m., connecting with the Kansas Pacific railway leaving Denver at 1:05 p. m.; Denver time (2:15 p. m. Kansas Pacific time). This train makes close connections at Kansas City union depot with trains by all routes east. This elegantly equipped fine offers superior advantages to the traveling public in a trip to the east through Denver.
